SAFEGUARDING IS EVERYONE’S RESPONSIBILITY

All staff working directly or indirectly with children and young people have a duty to safeguard and promote their welfare. The following people have specific additional responsibilities with regard to safeguarding children and young people at Options Kinsale and will work together to ensure a consistent approach across the setting:

Designated Safeguarding Person (DSP) Philippa Whipp, Headteacher
(Options Kinsale School)

Deputy Designated Safeguarding Person (DDSP) Nicci Hague, Deputy Headteacher (Options Kinsale School)

1.0 POLCY STATEMENT

Outcomes First Group puts the safety of the people we support as the highest priority and is committed to ensuring that children and young people are effectively safeguarded in all services at all times.

The Group recognises that children can be capable of abusing other children of similar and different ages or stages of development, and vulnerable to abuse by other children. Such abuse is taken as seriously as abuse perpetrated by an adult and will not be tolerated. The Group has a zero-tolerance approach to abuse and will take all concerns and reports seriously.

A contextual safeguarding approach will be taken to understand, and respond to, any occurrences of peer-on-peer abuse, recognising that children and young people who display harmful behaviours must be seen as vulnerable themselves.

The Group is committed to ensuring the prevention, early identification and appropriate management of peer-on-peer abuse. Where such abuse is identified, child protection procedures must be followed. All children and young people who have been affected by the situation will be supported, with wider risks being considered and addressed.

Peer-on-peer abuse is referenced in the School Safeguarding Policy. However, the specific issues and sensitive nature of peer-on-peer abuse requires this additional guidance, which is written in line with the statutory guidance contained within:

- Keeping Learners Safe \(gov.wales\)
- Social Care Wales \(safeguarding.wales\)
- Guidance for education settings on peer sexual abuse, exploitation, and harmful sexual behaviour.

The Group also provides Harmful Sexual Behaviour Guidance which staff working with children and young people must read and understand alongside this policy.

This Policy should also be read and applied alongside the following:

- Safeguarding Policy
- Group Safeguarding Statement
- Anti-bullying policy
- Behaviour Policy
- Child Exploitation policy
- Mobile and Smart Technology (schools and colleges)
- Phone and Internet Access Policy (Homes)
- Protecting Children from Radicalisation policy
- Safer Recruitment policy
- Data Protection policy
- Staying Safe Online policy
- Web Filtering & Monitoring policy
- Whistleblowing Policy
- Complaints policy
- Attendance Policy (schools)
- Missing Child Policy (Homes)
- Serious Incident Escalation Policy
- Suspension and Exclusion Policy
- Job description and guidance of the role of the DSP/Safeguarding Lead and their deputies.

2.0 WHAT IS PEER ON PEER ABUSE?

Peer-on-peer abuse is any form of physical, sexual, verbal, emotional or financial abuse, or coercive control exercised between children, and within children's relationships (both intimate and non-intimate), friendships, and wider associations.

This policy applies to children and young people who demonstrate behaviour outside of their normative parameters of development (this includes but is not exclusive to abusive behaviours). Local Safeguarding procedures must be followed, and any incidents of sexual violence will be reported to the police.

In Wales, referrals for children and young people under 18 will be dealt with under the Children's Safeguarding Arrangements, whereas those 18 and above will be dealt with under the Adult Safeguarding Arrangements.

All staff should understand, that even if there are no reports in their setting it does not mean it is not happening, it may be the case that it is just not being reported. As such it is important if staff have any concerns regarding peer-on-peer abuse, they should speak to their DSP or deputy/Safeguarding Lead.

It is essential that all staff understand the importance of challenging inappropriate behaviours between children, many of which are listed below, that are actually abusive in nature. Downplaying certain behaviours, for example dismissing sexual harassment as “just banter”, “just having a laugh”, “part of growing up” or “boys being boys” can lead to a culture of unacceptable behaviours, an unsafe environment for children and in worst case scenarios a culture that normalises abuse leading to children accepting it as normal and not coming forward to report it.

All staff should be aware that children can abuse other children, and that it can happen both inside and outside of school or college, in the home environment, in the community, both online and offline.

Some examples of how this can manifest itself in different behaviours include, but are not limited to:

- bullying (including cyberbullying, prejudice-based and discriminatory bullying);
- abuse in intimate personal relationships between peers;
- physical abuse such as hitting, kicking, shaking, biting, hair pulling, or otherwise causing physical harm (this may include an online element which facilitates, threatens and/or encourages physical abuse);
- sexual violence, such as rape, assault by penetration and sexual assault (this may include an online element which facilitates, threatens and/or encourages sexual violence), inappropriate touching.
- sexual harassment, such as sexual comments, remarks, jokes and online sexual harassment, which may be standalone or part of a broader pattern of abuse;
- causing someone to engage in sexual activity without consent, such as forcing someone to strip, touch themselves sexually, or to engage in sexual activity with a third party;
- consensual and non-consensual sharing of nudes and semi-nude images and or videos (also known as sexting or youth produced sexual imagery); Please see Sharing nudes and semi-nudes: Advice for education settings working with children and young people
- up skirting, which typically involves taking a picture under a person’s clothing without their permission, with the intention of viewing their genitals or buttocks to obtain sexual gratification, or cause the victim humiliation, distress or alarm; and
- initiation/hazing type violence and rituals (this could include activities involving harassment, abuse or humiliation used as a way of initiating a person into a group and may also include an online element).
- emotional abuse, psychological abuse, coercive control and/ or financial abuse

Some of these behaviours will need to be handled with reference to other policies, such as the Behaviour, Anti- bullying, Safeguarding, Suspension and Exclusion and Staying Safe Online Policy.

School and colleges must ensure their Mobile and Smart Technology Policy is followed during the school day. Children’s homes have a Phones & Internet Access Policy which must followed.

All staff must be aware and alert to signs of peer-on-peer abuse that may occur offline and online and should be clear as to the Setting’s and Group’s policies and procedures, ensuring they are followed as part of their everyday practice.

Staff must ensure that children and young people know:

2.1 Use of Language

Staff should always be mindful of the impact language can have on children and young people, especially those who are vulnerable or have suffered trauma.

The term victim is a widely recognised and understood term. It is important that all our settings recognise that not everyone who has been subjected to abuse considers themselves a victim or would want to be described in this way. Staff should be conscious of this when managing any incident and be prepared to use any term with which the individual child is most comfortable.

Alleged perpetrator(s) and, where appropriate, perpetrator(s) are widely used and recognised terms. However, staff should think very carefully about terminology, especially when speaking in front of children, not least because in some cases the abusive behaviour will have been harmful to the perpetrator as well. Staff should always be aware that a perpetrator may also be a victim of abuse. As above, the use of appropriate terminology will be for staff to determine, as appropriate, on a case-by-case basis.

Boy(s), Girl(s): refers to a child/children whose biological sex is male and female respectively, as well as trans boys and trans girls, whose gender identity will be different from their biological sex. It is acknowledged that there will also be some children who identify as non-binary or gender fluid and who will not recognise the term boy or girl in respect to themselves.

Please see the following helpful resources:

Language Matters: Use of language in child sexual abuse & exploitation practice - Barnardo's

2.2 Vulnerable groups

It is important to always be aware that any child or young person can be at risk of peer-on-peer abuse and that abusers can be younger or older than their victims. Research suggests some groups may be more at risk. The Safeguarding Network identifies the following as particularly vulnerable:

- Those aged 10 and upwards (although victims can be younger).
- Girls and young women are more likely to be harmed and boys and young men are more likely to have harmed.
- Black and minority ethnic children often under identified as having been harmed and over-identified as having harmed others.
- Young people with intra-familial abuse in their histories or those living with domestic abuse are more likely to be vulnerable.
- Young people in care and those who have experienced loss of a parent, sibling or friend through bereavement.

Children and young people with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) are more at risk of abuse. Staff must be vigilant in monitoring those who are more vulnerable. Any concerns must be reported immediately to the DSP or deputy/Safeguarding Lead and documented on the electronic recording system.

The fact that a child or a young person may be lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender, queer, questioning or ace (LGBTQ+) is not in itself an inherent risk factor for harm. However, children who are LGBTQ+ can be targeted by other children. In some cases, a child who is perceived by other children to be LGBTQ+ (whether they are or not) can be just as vulnerable as children who identify as LGBTQ+. Risks can be compounded where children who are LGBTQ+ lack a trusted adult with whom they can be open. It is therefore vital that staff endeavour to reduce the additional barriers faced and provide a safe space for them to speak out or share their concerns with members of staff.

Please note: The DfE refer to 'LGBT' in its guidance. Outcomes First Group has chosen to use the term 'LGBTQ+', because this abbreviation appears to be most inclusive and commonly used by the community. It is recognised that both boys and girls experience peer-on-peer abuse. Boys are less likely to report intimate relationship abuse and may display other behaviour, such as antisocial behaviour. Boys report high levels of victimisation in areas where they are affected by gangs. Please see the Outcomes First Group's Child Exploitation Policy for further information.

Research has also shown that bullying victimisation is a prevalent concern for neurodivergent (e.g., autistic, ADHD) youth. A neurodivergent young person may be more likely to be perceived as different by their peers and therefore may be more likely to be bullied/abused for this difference. In addition a neurodivergent young person may be less likely to fully understand that another person does not have their best interests at heart and therefore may not interpret certain actions as abuse. Therefore they may be less likely to speak up/report about the abuse. Individuals who are non-speaking may need additional augmentative alternative methods of communication to support any disclosures. For further information please see: What is Augmentative and Alternative Communication and how can it benefit autistic people? \(autism.org.uk\)

It should also be recognised that some neurodivergent young people may engage in behaviours which could be considered as abusive to another child, however due to that young person's cognitive ability or emotional literacy, they may not understand the consequences of their actions. Even when there is no malice or premeditation, any incidents of peer-on-peer abuse will be taken seriously.

3.0 RECOGNISING PEER ON PEER ABUSE

Signs that a child may be suffering from peer-on-peer abuse can also overlap with those indicating other types of abuse and can include, but are not limited to:

- disengagement from classes or struggling to carry out tasks and activities to their usual standard
- physical injuries,
- experiencing difficulties with mental health and/or emotional wellbeing,
- becoming withdrawn and/or shy; experiencing headaches, stomach aches, anxiety and/or panic attacks; suffering from nightmares or lack of sleep or sleeping too much
- broader changes in behaviour, such as alcohol or substance misuse
- changes in appearance and/or acting in a way that is not appropriate for the child's age
- abusive behaviour towards others.

This list is not exhaustive, and if a child displays these signs, it does not necessarily indicate abuse. Staff must be alert to behaviour that might cause concern and think about what the behaviour might signify. Children should be encouraged to share with them any underlying reasons for their behaviour and, where appropriate, staff might need to engage parents/carers to understand the context more fully. It may be helpful to seek support from the Clinical Team to help the child identify the reasons and communicate effectively

For children and young people with special educational needs or disabilities (SEND), and multiple complex co-occurring needs, it can be difficult for staff to distinguish between signs of abuse and behaviour that is part of the child or young person's condition. Staff should be alert to changes in their behaviour and always consider all possible causes of this. Please also see: Children with disabilities - Safeguarding our most vulnerable

3.1 Abuse involving Sexual Harassment and Sexual Violence

Staff must read the Group's Harmful Sexual Behaviour Guidance.

Further detailed information is provided in guidance-for-education-settings-on-peer-sexual-abuse-exploitation-and-harmful-sexual-behaviour.pdf \(gov.wales\) on:

- what sexual violence and sexual harassment constitutes,
- important context to be aware of, including; what is consent, power imbalances, and developmental stages,
- harmful sexual behaviour may be an indication that the perpetrator is a victim of abuse themselves,
- related legal responsibilities for schools and colleges,
- advice on a whole school or college approach to preventing child on child sexual violence and sexual harassment,
- more detailed advice on responding to reports of sexual violence and sexual harassment, including safeguarding and supporting both the victim(s) and alleged perpetrator(s).

Sexual violence and sexual harassment can occur between two children of any age and sex, from primary through to secondary stage and into colleges. It can occur through a group of children sexually assaulting or sexually harassing a single child or group of children. Sexual violence and sexual harassment exist on a continuum and may overlap; they can occur outside of the school premises, and or online and face to face (both physically and verbally) and are never acceptable. All staff working with children are advised to maintain an attitude of 'it could happen here'.

Whilst any report of sexual violence or sexual harassment should be taken seriously, staff should be aware it is more likely that girls will be victims of sexual violence and sexual harassment and more likely it will be perpetrated by boys. However, it is important to understand that girls can also abuse other girls and boys, and boys can abuse other boys and girls. Staff should always remain open to all possibilities and not let assumptions distract them from seeing what is really happening.

The importance of distinguishing between problematic and abusive sexual behaviour (Harmful Sexual Behaviour) is recognised. Understanding where a child's behaviour falls on a spectrum is essential to being able to respond appropriately to it. Please see the Harmful Sexual Behaviour Guidance

The Brook Traffic Light Tool helps staff to identify, assess and respond appropriately to sexual behaviours. As a minimum, DSPs and Safeguarding Leads, and their deputies should complete the Brook e-learning: Sexual Behaviours Traffic Light tool

3.2 Physical Abuse

Physical assaults and initiation violence and rituals from pupils to pupils can also be a form of peer-on- peer abuse. Such behaviour will not be tolerated and if it is believed that a crime has been committed, it will be reported to the police.

The principles from the Anti-bullying policy will be applied in these cases, with recognition that any police investigation will need to take priority.

Hackett's continuum model can also be referred to in this context to assess where the alleged behaviour falls on a spectrum and to decide how to respond. This could include, for example, considering whether the behaviour:

- is socially acceptable or is socially acceptable within the peer group
- involves a single incident or has occurred over a period of time
- is problematic and concerning
- involves any overt elements of victimisation or discrimination e.g. related to race, gender, sexual orientation, physical, emotional, or intellectual vulnerability
- involves an element of coercion or pre-planning
- involves a power imbalance between the child/children allegedly responsible for the behaviour
- involves a misuse of power.

3.3 Online Behaviour

Many forms of peer-on-peer abuse have an element of online behaviour. Online peer-on-peer abuse is any form of peer-on-peer with a digital element. For example, consensual and non-consensual sharing of nudes and semi-nude images and/or video, online abuse, coercion and exploitation, peer-on-peer grooming, threatening language delivered via online means, distribution of sexualised content and harassment.

LGFL's 'Undressed' provides advice about how to teach young children about being tricked into getting undressed online in a fun way without scaring them or explaining the motives of sex offenders.

Please see Staying Safe Online, Anti-bullying (including Cyberbullying) and Safeguarding policies for further information.

4.0 RESPONDING TO ALLEGED INCIDENTS AND CONCERNS

Staff must follow the setting's Safeguarding Policy if a child is at risk of harm, is in immediate danger, or has been harmed. Consideration must be given to the proportionality of the response on a case-by-case basis.

When making decisions about how to deal with allegations, the age and understanding of the young person who has displayed harmful behaviour must be taken into consideration, as well as any relevant personal circumstances and how this relates to their behaviour. Consideration must be given to any disparity in age and development between the young person who has displayed harmful behaviour and the victim, the impact the behaviour has had on the victim, and any element of coercion or violence.

Staff must act immediately and report any concerns regarding peer-on-peer abuse to the DSP /Safeguarding Lead or their deputies, within one working day, and document this on the electronic recording system.

4.1 The immediate response to a report

How staff respond to a report can encourage or undermine the confidence of future victims of sexual violence and sexual harassment to report or come forward.

Staff must:

Policy Owner: Headteacher P Whipp
Policy: Peer on Peer Abuse Policy

Last Review Date: January 2024
Next Review Date: September 2024

- Report any concerns about a child's welfare immediately to the DSP/Safeguarding Lead rather than waiting to be told. The DSP/ Safeguarding Lead will support the staff member to report the information to other agencies as appropriate e.g., the placing authority and the police.
- Be able to reassure victims that they are being taken seriously and that they will be supported and kept safe. A victim should never be given the impression that they are creating a problem by reporting abuse, sexual violence or sexual harassment. Nor should a victim ever be made to feel ashamed for making a report. All staff will be trained to manage a report.
- Explain, in such a way that avoids alarming or distressing children, that the law is in place to protect them rather than criminalise them.
- Listen, ask open questions and write down as much as possible. Language must be used that is not victim-blaming or judgemental and reassure the child that they have not caused a problem by disclosing.
- Be aware that children may not feel ready or know how to tell someone that they are being abused, exploited, or neglected, and/or they may not recognise their experiences as harmful. For example, children may feel embarrassed, humiliated, or being threatened. Children with learning difficulties, particularly those with multiple complex needs may not have the communication skills or understanding to tell someone. This should not prevent staff from having a professional curiosity and speaking to the DSP/Safeguarding Lead if they have concerns about a child. It is also important that staff determine how best to build trusted relationships with children and young people which facilitate communication.
- Understand that victims may not talk about the whole picture immediately. They may be more comfortable providing information on a piecemeal basis. It is essential that dialogue is kept open and encouraged.
- When it is clear that ongoing support will be required, the victim should be asked if they would find it helpful to have a designated trusted adult to talk to about their needs. The choice of any such adult should be the victim's, as far as reasonably possible; their choice it should be respected and supported.
- Not promise confidentiality as the concern will need to be shared further (for example, with the DSP or social care). Staff will only share the report with those people who are necessary to progress it. Information can be legally shared even if the child states they do not want it to be.
- Produce a written report as soon after the interview as possible, recording the facts as presented by the child. These may be used as part of a statutory assessment if the case is escalated later.
- If the concern involves online abuse, be aware of the advice for education settings working with children and young people: Searching, Screening and Confiscation Advice and Sharing nudes and semi-nudes. This provides more details on what to do when viewing an image is unavoidable. The key consideration is for staff not to view or forward illegal images of a child. In some cases, it may be more appropriate to confiscate devices to preserve evidence and hand them to the police for inspection.

4.2 Considerations by the School or College.

The school or college will consider:

- The wishes of the victim in terms of how they want to proceed. This is especially important in the context of sexual violence and sexual harassment;
- The nature of the alleged incident(s), including whether a crime may have been committed and consideration of harmful sexual behaviour;
- The ages and developmental stages of the children involved;
- Any power imbalance between the children. For example, is the alleged perpetrator significantly older, more mature or more confident? Does the victim have a disability or learning difficulty?

- If the alleged incident is a one-off or a sustained pattern of abuse; (sexual abuse can be accompanied by other forms of abuse and a sustained pattern may not just be of a sexual nature);
- that sexual violence and harassment can take place within intimate personal relationships between peers;
- other related issues and wider context, including any links to child sexual or criminal exploitation;
- any intra familial harms and any necessary support for siblings following incidents.

4.3 Children sharing a classroom

Whilst the DSP/Safeguarding Lead establishes the facts of the case and starts the process of liaising with children's social care and the police:

- the perpetrator will be removed from any classes they share with the victim.
- The school or college will assess how best to keep the victim and alleged perpetrator a reasonable distance apart on the premises and on transport to and from the setting.

These actions are in the best interests of both children and should not be perceived to be a judgment on the alleged perpetrator.

4.4 Response to the alleged perpetrator

Any allegation is likely to be traumatic for the alleged perpetrator. In cases of peer-on-peer abuse the alleged perpetrator must also be treated as vulnerable and may require specialist support, which should be organised by the DSP/Safeguarding Lead. Staff must be aware that the perpetrator may have suffered or be suffering abuse and/or trauma.

The DSP/Safeguarding Lead must ensure that the alleged perpetrator's age, cognitive and emotional understanding is taken into account, as well as trying to understand the reasons why the alleged perpetrator may have harmed another child. A risk assessment must be completed immediately which should balance the proportionality of the allegation alongside the needs of the victim and the alleged perpetrator's right to continue to be educated.

It is good practice for the DSP/Safeguarding Lead to meet with the parents/carers/those with parental responsibility of the alleged perpetrator to explain the situation and what measures will be put in place to support their child. The DSP/Safeguarding Lead must be led by the police regarding what information can be shared with the alleged perpetrator and their family.

If the alleged perpetrator moves school, college or to a different children's home, the DSP/Safeguarding Lead must ensure that all safeguarding information is shared in advance with the new setting. Schools must also inform their Local Authority of all deletions from their admission register when a child is taken off roll.

The DSP/Safeguarding Lead must liaise with the Police and Social Care should they wish to take disciplinary action prior to the conclusion of a Police/Social Care investigation. Other professionals investigating an incident does not in itself prevent a setting from coming to its own conclusion, on the balance of probabilities, about what happened, and imposing a penalty accordingly.

Staff must be alert to possible bullying of the alleged perpetrator either within the setting or online. Arrangements must be made to safeguard them. Staff must promote a culture where bullying is not tolerated.

4.5 Local Procedures

The DSP/Safeguarding Lead will be familiar with the local referral procedures for safeguarding and child protection concerns and safeguarding procedures for adults. They must also be familiar with local responses to sexual violence and harassment, and these must shape their own responses. They will also ensure that staff are aware and understand the local processes and that they are familiar with local support services.

Where statutory assessments are appropriate, the DSP/Safeguarding Lead will work alongside the relevant lead social worker. Collaborative working will help ensure the best possible package of coordinated support is implemented for the victim and, where appropriate, the alleged perpetrator and any other children that require support.

The placing authority must be notified immediately where it has been identified that there are immediate safeguarding concerns. It is recommended as best practice that steps are taken to convene a multi-agency professionals meeting to review any potential risks and agree actions to be taken to safeguard the young person/young people. The DSP/Safeguarding Lead is responsible for this.

The setting should be part of discussions with statutory safeguarding partners to agree the levels for the different types of assessment and services to be commissioned and delivered, as part of the local arrangements. Safeguarding partners should publish a local threshold document which includes the process for the local early help assessment and the type and level of early help services to be provided, and DSPs/Safeguarding Lead (and their deputies) will need to familiarise themselves with this document.

4.6 Reporting to the Police

Where a crime has been committed the DSP/Safeguarding Lead must immediately contact the police.

Whilst the age of criminal responsibility is ten, if the alleged perpetrator is under ten, the starting principle of reporting to the police remains. The police will take a welfare, rather than a criminal justice, approach.

Where a report has been made to the police, the setting will consult the police and agree what information can be disclosed to staff and others, the alleged perpetrator and their parents or carers. They will also discuss the best way to protect the victim and their anonymity.

Where there is a criminal investigation, the setting will work closely with the relevant agencies to support all children involved (including potential witnesses). Where required, advice from the police will be sought in order to help manage the situation sensitively. Staff must be aware of the requirement for children and vulnerable adults to have an Appropriate Adult with them if they are interviewed or detained by the police (See PACE Code C 2019).

Whilst protecting children and/or taking any disciplinary measures against the alleged perpetrator, the setting will work closely with the police (and other agencies as required), to ensure any actions the setting take do not jeopardise the police investigation.

The DSP/ Safeguarding Lead must inform the Headteacher or equivalent/ Registered Manager, Chair of Governors, Regional Director and Group Head of Safeguarding/Safeguarding Advisor.

4.7 Action following a report of sexual violence and/or sexual harassment

If a child or young person alleges that they have been raped, assaulted by penetration or sexually assaulted, this must be reported to the Police and Social Care immediately. The child or young person's parents/carers should normally be informed unless this creates a greater risk of harm.

Staff must ensure that their response to sexual violence, harassment or harmful behaviours between children of the same sex is equally robust as it is for between children of different sexes.

When there has been a report of sexual violence, the DSP/ Safeguarding Lead will make an immediate risk and needs assessment which will be recorded within one working day and recorded on the electronic recording system. The risk and needs assessment should consider:

- The victim, especially their protection and support;
- whether there may have been other victims,
- The alleged perpetrator(s); and
- All the other children (and, if appropriate, adult students and staff) at the setting, especially any actions that are appropriate to protect them.

The risk assessment must be shared with the police (where requested), local authority, Head Teacher, Chair of Governors, Registered Manager, Head of Service and the Regional Director, and the Group Head of Safeguarding/Safeguarding Adviser. Consideration must be given to informing Outcomes First Groups Corporate Affairs/Commercial Director in case of media interest.

Risk assessments will be kept under review by the DSP/Safeguarding Lead. Where there has been a report of sexual harassment, a risk assessment should also be completed.

5.0 AFTER THE OUTCOME / CONCLUSION OF THE INCIDENT

The school or college must:

- take a contextual safeguarding approach;
- take all necessary action to learn from the incident and prevent future incidents from occurring, such as through targeted education around specific types of peer-on-peer abuse;
- offer support for the victim and ensure it is provided wherever possible. Appropriate risk assessments must be implemented to provide reassurance and safety for the victim;
- ensure that they do not adopt a victim blaming approach; complete an investigation into the incident, carried out by the DSP/Safeguarding Lead. The investigation must consider the occurrence of the incident itself, whether it is an isolated incident, and the personal circumstances of the young person who is alleged to have displayed harmful behaviour;
- if necessary, make appropriate referrals to support services for the young person who has displayed harmful behaviours;
- complete and implement a risk assessment for the young person who has displayed harmful behaviours in order to safeguard them and other children and young people.

5.1 The end of the criminal process

If a child is convicted or receives a caution for a sexual offence, the school or college will update its risk assessment and ensure relevant protections are in place for all children and young people. The school or college will consider any suitable action in line with its Behaviour Policy. If the perpetrator remains in the school/college/home, expectations regarding the perpetrator will be clearly set out if they have been convicted or cautioned. This could include expectations regarding their behaviour and any restrictions the setting thinks are reasonable and proportionate about the perpetrator's timetable.

Any conviction (even with legal anonymity reporting restrictions) is potentially going to generate interest among other children and young people in the setting. The school and college will take measures to protect all children involved, especially from any bullying or harassment offline and online.

Where cases are classified as “no further action” (NFA’d) by the police or Crown Prosecution Service, or where there is a not guilty verdict, the school or college will continue to offer support to the victim and the alleged perpetrator for as long as is necessary. A not guilty verdict or a decision not to progress with their case will likely be traumatic for the victim. The fact that an allegation cannot be substantiated does not necessarily mean that it was unfounded. The setting will continue to support all parties in this instance.

5.2 Unsubstantiated, unfounded, false or malicious reports

All concerns, discussions and decisions made, and the reasons for those decisions, should be recorded in writing. Records should be reviewed so that potential patterns of concerning, problematic or inappropriate behaviour can be identified, and addressed.

If a report is determined to be unsubstantiated, unfounded or false, the DSP/Safeguarding Lead should consider whether the child and/or the person who has made the allegation is in need of help or may have been abused by someone else and this is a cry for help. In such circumstances, a referral to children’s social care or adult’s social care may be appropriate.

If a report is shown to be deliberately invented or malicious, the school or college should consider whether any disciplinary action is appropriate against the individual who made it as per their Behaviour Policy.

6.0 SUPPORT FOR CHILDREN AFFECTED BY SEXUAL ASSAULT

Where there is a criminal investigation, the alleged perpetrator will be removed from any shared classes and activities with the victim and consideration will be given as to how best to keep them a reasonable distance apart on the school or college premises or on transport to and from the setting.

This is in the best interest of the children concerned and should not be perceived to be a judgement of guilt before any legal proceedings. The school or college will work closely with the police.

Where a criminal investigation into a rape or assault by penetration leads to a conviction or caution, the school or college will take suitable action. In all but the most exceptional of circumstances, the rape or assault is likely to constitute a serious breach of discipline and lead to the view that allowing the perpetrator to remain in the same setting would seriously harm the education or welfare of the victim (and potentially other children and young people).

Where a criminal investigation into sexual assault leads to a conviction or caution, the school/college/home will consider any suitable sanctions using the relevant policies, including consideration of permanent exclusion.

Where the perpetrator is going to remain at the setting, the principle would be to continue keeping the victim and perpetrator in separate classes/areas and continue to consider the most appropriate way to manage potential contact on the premises and transport. The nature of the conviction or caution and wishes of the victim will be especially important in determining how to proceed in such cases.

Sexual assault can result in a range of health needs, including physical, mental, and sexual health problems and unwanted pregnancy. Children and young people that have a health need arising from sexual assault or abuse can access specialist NHS support from a Sexual Assault Referral Centre (SARC), which can be found through a location search at: Rape-and-sexual-assault-referral-centres/LocationSearch/364

The victim should be given all the necessary support to remain in their school or college, however, if the trauma results in the victim being unable to do this, alternative provision or a move to another setting should be considered to enable them to continue to receive suitable education and care. This should only be at the request of the victim and following discussion with their parents or carers/those with parental responsibility.

If the victim does move for any reason, the DSP/Safeguarding Lead must ensure that the new setting is aware of any ongoing support needs and should discuss with the victim and their parents/carers/those with parental responsibility the most suitable way of doing this. The DSP/Safeguarding Lead must transfer the child protection file.

All the above will be considered with the needs and wishes of the victim at the heart of the process (supported by parents/carers as required). Any arrangements should be kept under review.

Further support for victims of sexual assault is available from a variety of agencies (see Annexes B and C).

7.0 PREVENTION STRATEGIES

Throughout the setting we actively raise awareness of and prevent all forms of peer-on-peer abuse by:

- Educating all governors, responsible individuals, senior leaders, staff and volunteers, children and young people, parents and carers about this issue. This will include training all governors, responsible individuals, senior leaders, staff and volunteers on the nature, prevalence and effect of peer-on-peer abuse, and how to prevent, identify and respond to it and challenge attitudes that underly such abuse.
- Taking appropriate action to ensure that children and young people learn about appropriate relationships with adults, online safety, as well as sex and healthy relationships. RSE lessons, Relationships Education, and Relationships and Sex Education will focus on important age-appropriate and developmentally appropriate issues in line with Government guidance.
- Supporting children to understand what abuse is and the impact it can have on those who experience it.
- Creating a culture in which our children and young people feel able to share their concerns openly, in a non-judgmental environment and have them listened to.
- Ensuring Children and young people are clear about how to report abuse or any concerns about possible abuse or harmful behaviour. This includes being able to access in private, relevant websites or help lines, such as Childline and the NSPCC, to seek advice and help.
- Staff recognise that some children and young people are more vulnerable by virtue of their complex health or behavioural needs, or disabilities. All staff have a responsibility to be the 'eyes and ears' and report all concerns to the DSP/Safeguarding Lead. Consideration will be given as to whether additional support for children with protected characteristics is required.
- Engaging with parents/carers on this issue by:
 - Talking with parents/carers about it and asking them what they perceive to be the risks facing their child and how they would like to see the school or college address those risks;
 - Involving them in the review of the school or college policies and lesson plans; and encouraging them to hold the school/college/home to account on this issue.
- Ensuring that all peer-on-peer abuse issues are fed back to the Headteacher or equivalent/Registered Manager and DSP/Safeguarding Lead, so they can spot and address any concerning trends and identify children and young people who may need additional support.

- Working with governors, the Responsible Individual, senior leaders, all staff and volunteers, children and young people and parents to address equality issues, to promote positive values, and to encourage a culture of tolerance and respect amongst all members of the school/college/home community.
- Working with multi-agency partners to further understand and address peer-on-peer abuse and reduce its occurrence.

7.1 Risk Assessment

Schools and Colleges must conduct a proactive school-wide risk assessment to determine the risks to which their pupils are or may be exposed and will assess and monitor those risks. This is a proactive assessment of the risks facing pupils and distinct from the assessments that must be conducted following concerns or allegations.

The risk assessment may include:

- the composition of pupil population, including specific characteristics that affect their vulnerability to peer-on-peer abuse for example, gender, age, special educational needs and/or disabilities, sexual orientation and/or religious belief.
- Which pupils are more at risk of being affected by peer-on-peer abuse?
- Any relevant trends in behaviour.
- Environmental factors and local awareness, for example, high levels of gang activity.
- Online activities and vulnerabilities.

This should be reviewed and updated at least annually and reviewed after any incident of peer-on-peer abuse.
